13.30 - 14.30 E-health and E-learning. The importance of data protection in the context of e-learning

Data protection is an issue that attracts increasing attention around the world as the importance of data for various services increases. Many countries all over the world are passing new legislation or amending their laws, in line with the same principles as those stipulated by the European Union. The rules and requirements may appear complicated and as potential obstacles to on-line activities (including on-line teaching) but most often it is only a question of adopting certain standards and working methods.

Some comments reg. The training program As part of quality evaluation (WP 8)

Dear Dr. Mosad,

Thank you for the valuable and informative workshop.

It was a great, informative one. The best aspect is the focus on the practical experience know-hows, delivering the message of practicability.

The incremental degree of interestingness of sessions made it easy to follow to the end of the workshop (personally, I liked most "E-health and E- learning. The importance of data protection in the context of e-learning" and "Developments of E-healthcare in Estonia".

Dear Dr. Ahmed,

Thank you for this great opportunity. As usual Sir, no thanks are enough.

Kindest Regards,

Mary Nicola
